Instructions for tonight's class

Hey I.R. People,

So listen up folks, until we hear otherwise, this is how our classes will go each week. I'll put up what I'd like you all to do for the night on these instructions and then you will be good little boys and girls and do everything! So here you go:

1) First, click on the link for the reading "Quitting the Hominid Club," by John Horgan and read through this article. If you want, you can do your journal response to this article.

2) Next, click on the link for "Lecture Presentation" near the top of this week's section and watch the lecture.

3) Finally, click on the link to the documentary interview with Douglas Fry by Ricardo Lopes and watch the interview. If you like, you could do your journal response to this interview, you know, questions, thoughts, comments, etc...

If anyone has any questions, just sent me an email. Otherwise, just keep working hard on those research papers. When and how they will be turned in will be announced at a later date.

Cheers!
