

LECTURE / DISCUSSION / DEBATE
CONSERVATISM AND ISLAM

Terms and concepts to know:

Conservatism	Traditional conservatism (social)
Laissez-faire conservatism (economic)	Noblesse oblige
Edmund Burke / Reflections...	Evolutionary / Revolutionary
Kirk / The Conservative Mind	Lippman / The Public Philosophy
Classical liberalism	The New Deal
The Great Society	Welfare Liberalism
Nozick / Anarchy, State, and Utopia	Hayek / The Road to Serfdom
The Chicago School	Contemporary Conservatism
Neoconservatism

Study and discussion questions:

1. Discuss the various forms of conservatism and how the American hybrid developed from Europe. Examine the concept of noblesse oblige and discuss why it did not take root in the U.S.
2. Examine the philosophy of Edmund Burke and debate the advantages of accepting evolutionary change as opposed to revolutionary. Do you believe that “change should be gradual and consistent with a nation’s past”?
3. According to Scott Burchill, “[s]ince the 1950s, the US has paved the way for the rise of Islamic fundamentalism by using its most extreme reactionary elements to attack secular nationalism across the Muslim world, from Egypt to Afghanistan.” Is this true? Why would the west do this?
4. Discuss Kirk’s “six tenets of traditional conservatism.” Which of the six do you find legitimate? Are there any that you find “too conservative”?
5. Examine some of the other conservative scholars. Was Hayek correct in assuming that “economic and social planning inevitably limit individual freedom”? How about Banfield’s concerns about the Great Society programs? Is Huntington correct in his beliefs of the ineffectiveness of reforms in the U.S.? Have conservative thinkers received “rough treatment” from intellectuals in the 20th century?

Readings:

Heineman. Political Science, Chapter 6.
Stevenson. Twelve Theories of Human Nature, Chapter 7.

Video:

Mr. Conservative: Goldwater on Goldwater.