

Instructions for the November 24, 2020 Lecture

As you know, the paper is due tonight by 11:59 pm. I would have it up on Turnitin by that time whether it is finished or not. You'll lose more points by turning it in late, than if you still have a few more pages to go or things to polish up. You'll still have until the December 8th to make any necessary adjustments. You will upload it one more time with all the mistakes fixed (or I should say "they'd better be fixed"!). The paper grade will actually go DOWN if you do not fix everything I make a note of. OK, so our second important policy discussion will be tonight. Here's your breakdown:

Lecture 14. U.S. Foreign Policy

Task 1: Read these instructions.

Task 2: Read Chapter 15 in the Heineman text (pp. 314-334)

Task 3: Watch the lecture presentation for "U.S. Foreign Policy." You must be getting tired of me droning on....I feel your pain.

Task 4: Read the article for your journal response ("Pragmatic Idealism" by David Model). You can find the question on the link titled "Lecture / Discussion Page" highlighted in yellow. After completing the response, you will have until the date posted on the assignments page to upload it to Canvas.

Task 5: Open the link for the video and watch Unmanned: America's Drone Wars. Is this the future of warfare? This film investigates the impact of U.S. drone strikes at home and abroad, observing their effect on the War on Terror, the lives of individuals, and U.S. foreign policy.

Task 6: Click the link titled "Discussion Board Question and Peer Responses for Video Presentation" and answer the question that I have posted in approximately one paragraph or so. Wait for other students to put their responses and then pick two students to respond to. The deadline for these responses will be posted on the Canvas assignments page. Don't be late....

So listen people, I'm super proud of everyone for hanging in there. It's been a tough fall semester, lots of reading and writing but we are almost finished.

Take a breath, enjoy your Thanksgiving break and let's get ready do our last lecture next week and then our final wrap up...until then...

Later folks,

Kropf
