

Instructions for Lecture Four

Hey People!

OK, so we're finish up our work on the state this week with a look at how identity groups form, and why some become successful while others, not so much. How does one define their identity? Granted, we have multiple identities, but which ones stand out when you look in the mirror? Do you identify strongly with the nation-state in which you were born into? We'll complete our discussion this week by examining the various political issues different identity groups face.

Lecture 4. States and Identity

Task 1: Read these instructions! (...if you dare).

Task 2: Read Chapter 4 in the Orvis/Drogus text (pp. 92 – 128)

Task 3: Watch the lecture presentation on “States and Identity.” Sleepy? Time for a Red Bull...

Task 4: Read the article for your journal response. You can find the question on the link titled “Lecture / Discussion Page” highlighted in yellow. After completing the response, you will have until the date posted on the assignments page to upload it to Canvas.

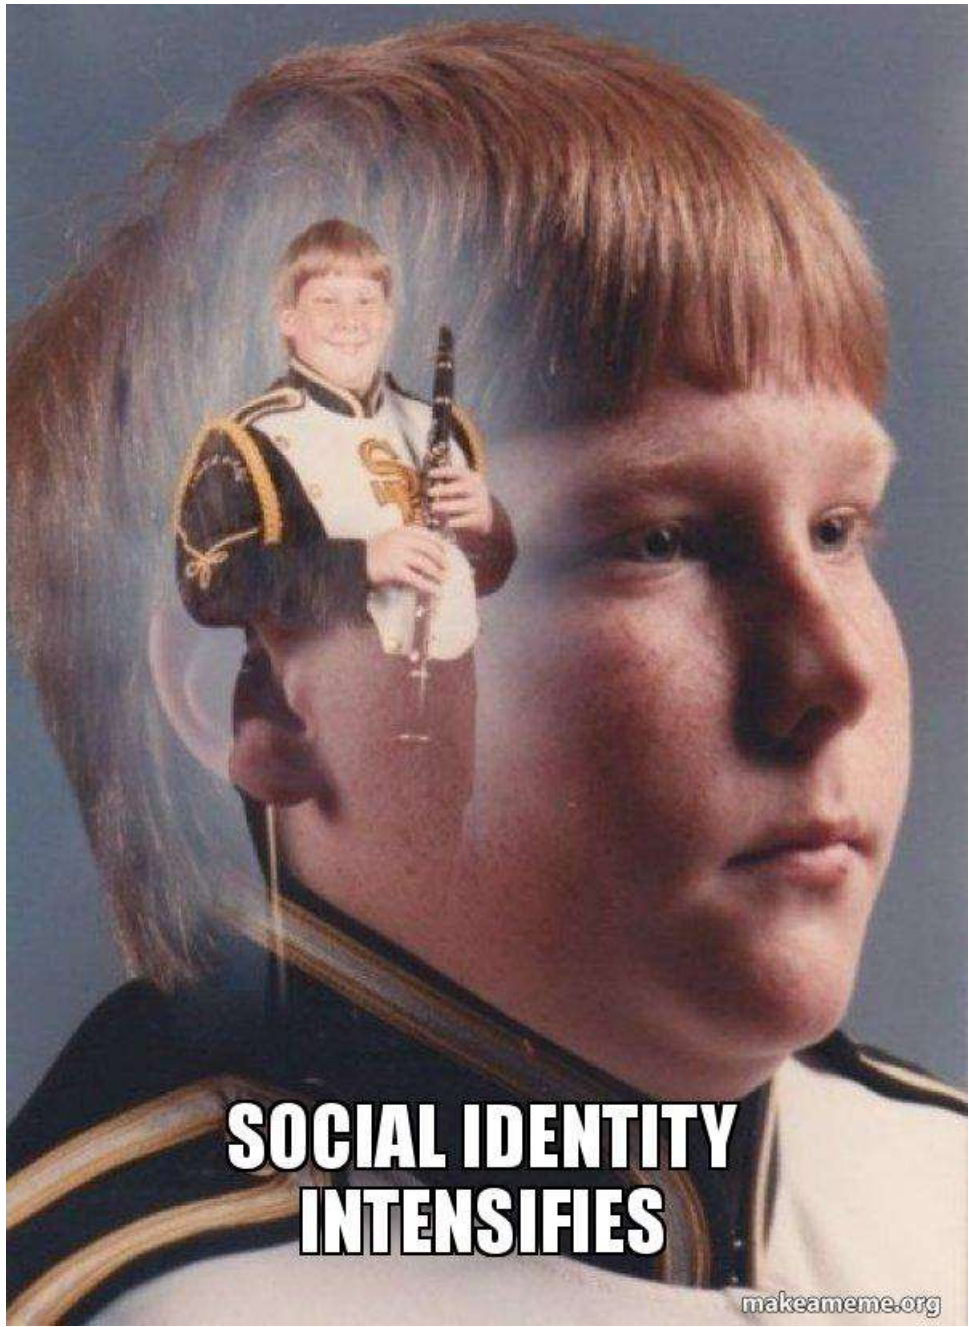

Task 5: Open the link for the video and watch.

Task 6: Go to our Canvas page and click the link titled “Discussion Board for Lecture One” and answer the question that I have posted in approximately one to two-paragraphs. Wait for other students to put their responses and then pick two students to respond to. The deadline for these responses will be posted on the Canvas assignments page. Don't be late....

So, guess what? Next week we get to move away from these discussions and look at our first “other region” on the globe. We'll start with Latin America...they're closest to us so why not?

Keep me posted with questions people,

Kropf

SOCIAL IDENTITY
INTENSIFIES

makeameme.org