

Instructions for Lecture Twelve

Happy Birthday! (I'm running low on salutations),

People, we're getting close to being finished. After this week, two more and a wake up. Our last night (May 13th) will be quick. So tonight, to paraphrase the immortal words of Rodney King, "can't we all just get along"? Well, it ain't easy in a multicultural society like the U.S., particularly given its history of slavery, genocide against native peoples, and frequent mistreatment of various immigrant groups. We hear a lot about Islamic "fundamentalism," but does America have its own version? We'll explore all those questions this week, so here you go:

Lecture 12. Multiculturalism and Fundamentalism

Task 1: Read these instructions (or don't...you anarchists!)

Task 2: Read Hoffman and Graham, Chapters 15 and 17, pp. 335 – 355; 378 – 398.

Task 3: Click the link on my website or the Canvas "Modules" page titled "Lecture Twelve Presentation" and watch the lecture for this evening. (another long one; you might want to see if osmosis works).

Task 4: Read the article for your journal response. You can find the question on the link titled "Lecture / Discussion Page" highlighted in yellow. After completing the response, you will have until the date posted on the assignments page to upload it to Canvas.

Task 5: Open the link for the video and watch.

Task 6: On the Canvas "Modules" page down to the link titled "Discussion Board: Lecture Twelve." Then answer the question that I have posted in approximately one to two paragraphs or so. Wait for other students to put their responses and then pick two students to respond to. The deadline for these responses will be posted on the Canvas assignments page. Don't be late....

We'll start our last unit next week. Contemporary ideas. 5 of them. We've got this nailed people.

Yes indeedie,

Kropf
